is briefly worded and is so expressed that it calls for no reply.

China's motive in addressing to Russia and Japan such a notification was to remind them that she had never acquiesced in the alienation of the province of Manchuria from Chinese sovereignty and that she expected as the first result of the war, the full restoration to Chinese control of that province.

That this position might receive the continued support of the neutral powers, copies of the note were forwarded to the respective Chinese representatives.

Before sending this notification the Chinese government addressed to its viceroys, governors and diplomatic representatives about Manchuria, asking their opinions regarding the steps the government should take to insure its restoration to Chinese control. On one point

Advices reaching Washington indicat that the insistence upon the unconditional restoration of Manchuria without condi-tion finds favor in the Chinese capital and this, it is believed, opens up an portant subject in connection with Washington conference.

AND MAY RESIGN

Government Defeated Last Night On Irish Land Commission.

EXCITEMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Premier Refuses to Indicate What Course He Will Pursue-The Liberals and Irish Leaders Yell "Resign"-Opposisition Had Majority of Three.

LONDON, July 20 .- The government was defeated in the House of Commons to-night by a majority of three on the motion to reduce the membership of the Irish Land Commission.

On the announcement of the vote a produced, the Liberals and the Irish members yelling, "Resign."

The incident is considered hardly of sufficient importance to justify the gov ernment in resigning, but when asked by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the leader of the opposition, what course he intended to pursue, Premier Balfour de clined to make a statement.

John Redmond, leader of party, said the premier had repeatedly declared that he would resign if defeated and that if he disregarded this vote of want of confidence he would be acting against all precedents. Was he going to swallow this humiliation as he swallow every other humiliation during the years? the premier was asked by Redmond.

Mr. Redmond.

Mr. Balfour, replying very coolly, said that Mr. Redmond had greatly agitated himself over a matter which could be settled in due time. He was, he said, not conscious of any humiliation. There would be ample opportunity within a few hours of groving whether the government still enjoys the confidence of the majority of the House. The Premier said he would consult his collectures as to whether the question would again be submitted to a yote, and would make a statement Monote, and would make a statement Mor day.

After some wrangling over the question whether to adjourn until Monday, it was decided to adjourn until to-morrow.

The Associated Press learns that it is practically certain the government will neither resign nor dissolve Parliament.

Sir Edward Grey's motion of censure on the government regarding the fiscal question will be discussed Monday, and the ministerialists argue that its rejection will prove that the government still possesses the confidence of Parliament. It is not unlikely, however, that Mr. Long, the chief secretary of Ireland, will resign.

Every Second of the Day's Sport of Intense Interest.

(Special from our Staff Correspondent.) MANASSAS, VA., July 20 .- Five thousand people crowded into the show grounds of the Prince William Horse mens Association to-day; the grandstand was filled to overflowing, and car riages three deep were packed around the show-ring; clear weather, following the rains of yesterday made the conditions excellent, and every second of the day's events proved of intense interest to the people. One of the sensations of the day was the defeat of Mr. David Dunlop's harness horses bp Mr. Maxwell Wyths's Lady Marjorie, and this, despite the fact tha Mr. Dunlop's entries were driven by Mr

Mr. Piunkett Stewart, one of the hanter judges, has been judging here for ten years, and as one of his admirers said to-day, grows better with old age. Mr. C. J. Meetze, ring-master, has also been connected with the show since its formation. Politics played its part to-day. Attorney General Anderson greeting his admirers, has been doing good work. His friends say he has the entire country solid.

A Dash of Politics.

Messrs. J. Taylor Ellyson and James Alston Cabell, candidates for lieutenant-governor, both spent the day at the show grounds; it is conceded that Mr. Ellyson will carry this district, although Mr. Cabell has a number of friends.

Cabell has a number of friends.

In discussing the attuation, a prominent resident of Manassas to-day said Governor Montague will carry the district by a comfortable majority, but Willard will have things his own way, as he is popular with everyone.

An item of interest is the fact that the classes were all shown on time and without the usual tedious delays.

The first class to attract attention was the four-year-old green hunters, which was won by Dryden, a Pirate of Penzance colt, a good looking youngster.

DAVIS MONUMENT SITE PURCHASED

Work of Preparation for the Memorial Expected to Begin Next Week.

ELLYSON AND CABELL THERE AND ALL AMHERST REJOICES BE UNVEILED IN TWO YEARS

The Massive Colonade to Cost About $75,000—History of Movement.

The contract for the purchase of the real estate necessary as a site for the Jefferson Davis Memerial, to be unveiled June 3, 1907, with imposing coremonies, was closed yesterday. The memorial will require a large area by reason of its form, and the property just acquired is for this purpose.

The memorial will be located at the intersection of Cedar and Franklin Streets, or rather Monument Avenue, as Franklin Street has been rechristened since it became the site for so may handsome memorials of historic litchmond and Confederate soldiers and statesmen whose services contributed to the fame of the city. The memorial is to be Surrounded by a circle with a radius sufficient to afford environments in keeping with the massive and handsome memorial design to be located there. What the Memorial Is.

What the Memorial Is.

The Davis monument, as is perhaps well known, is to consist of a semi-circle structure of columns connected and surmounted by a massive cornice, and with a towering column within the arc. This great column is to be surmounted by a figure of Liberty, while beside the column on an appropriate pedestal, a statue monument of the Confederate President will be reared.

This design was decided upon after many suggestions and long discussion, and has been finally approved. There was for a long time great differences of view as to the proper site for the monument, Monroe Park having been first selected therefor. Later there was a movement to locate the monument at the corner of Twelfth and Broad Streets and make it in the form of a great arch,

Mrs. Davis also disapproved the design of the arch, first selected for the memorial, and after much conference among the members of the Monument Committee, it was abandoned, and the semi-circular design was chosen.

Details Not Made Public.

It is understood that the site was purchased through the real estate firm of J. Thompson Brown & Co., but the details of the transaction have not been given out. Just how much land is embraced in the site purchased and from whom it is secured are not made known, nor is the consideration stated. As the monument will stand in the center of the broad avenue set apart primarily for this purpose, it is assumed that the purchase [Total Parch 1]. Mr. Montague made brief reference to the bill "fillowing a settlement between Virginia and the Federal government," stoutly maintaining that the full amount received by the State was $5.50. Governor Montague further said that Senator Martin had never made a public speech before his nomination in the United States Senate by the legislature. He said that Mr. Martin hid asserted in his King Goorge speech that he bad been at the disposal of Mr. Eliyson, the State Chairman but it seemed that the State Chairman did not consider him of value sufficient to send him anywhere. There was but little applause. The governor spoke an hour and 15 minutes. Judge William Hodges Mann was introduced by Mr. George E. Nelson, Judge Mann received an ovation and was aplauded from start to finish. He spoke upon the advantageous feature of the Mann bill and presented his claims in a nent oratorical manner. He quoted from the journal and documents of the Constitutional Convention of January 16, 1901, page 337.

Judge Williams's speech was taken well and it was clearly demonstrated here that he is the choice of the majority. In fact, all the speeches were listened to with great carnestness, but those of Judge Mann and Judge Williams were the best taken.
